Access Humboldt joins KMUD to offer audio editing classes

EUREKA, CA — Access Humboldt (http://accesshumboldt.net) is collaborating with Redway/Garberville-based Redwood Community Radio (KMUD, http://kmud.org) to offer audio production and community journalism classes in Humboldt County.

The first audio editing class will run from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. on Saturday, April 9th at the Access Humboldt Community Media Center and will cover producing and recording a radio story, as well as editing sound recordings with Audacity (http://audacity.sourceforge.net), a free, open-source audio editing program. KMUD News Coordinator and Community Journalism Project Manager Terri Klemetson will lead the class, with assistance from KMUD community journalists and Access Humboldt staff.

Furthermore, thanks to Eureka High School and Eureka Adult School, Access Humboldt and KMUD will also have access to the high-end Macintosh computers in Eureka High School's multimedia editing classroom for the audio editing class.

The class will cost $15, or $5 for Access Humboldt and KMUD members. To register, call Access Humboldt at (707) 476-1798 or email info@accesshumboldt.net.

An additional class is planned for Saturday, April 30th at the Hoopa Tribal Radio (KIDE, http://kidefm.org) studios in Hoopa, and more classes will follow at other locations around Humboldt County. With these classes, KMUD and Access Humboldt aim to increase the number of community journalists and local story tellers trained in radio production, which will in turn increase the amount of local programming on regional community radio stations like KMUD and KIDE.
