Hum CPR announces new Executive Director

The Humboldt Coalition for Property Rights announced today that Redway resident, Estelle Fennell has joined their management team as Executive Director.

The announcement underscores the coalition's dedication to preserving and protecting the rural lifestyle in the unincorporated areas of Humboldt County and the broad cross-section of residents it represents.

Fennell, a recent candidate for 2nd District Supervisor and local radio station News Director for over 17 years brings a wealth of experience to the job.

"I truly appreciate this opportunity to continue working on behalf of my community, especially on this issue, which is of great importance to the many rural landowners of the unincorporated areas," said Estelle Fennell. "I look forward to working with this broad-based coalition to make sure decision-makers at the county level hear our voices". "This is a critical time for people to become educated about their rights as property owners as well as the challenges they may face in coming months and years".

Freshwater artist Lee Ulansey, Founder and Chair of the coalition expressed his thoughts on hiring Fennell for the job: "On behalf of myself personally, our Board of Directors, and particularly the close to two thousand community members who comprise our coalition, I whole heartedly welcome Estelle Fennell to HumCPR". Ulansey added. "We are looking forward to working with Estelle to continue to build our membership and to reach out to all those who believe we are entitled to a broad range of choices in how and where we live". "Estelle's experience and communication skills will be an invaluable asset as we reach out and pursue a true community dialog that has been so grossly neglected in the current General Plan process".

The Humboldt Coalition for Property Rights is dedicated to preserving the rural lifestyle that has been the historic tradition of Humboldt Count
