

Gardener-Journalist, Terry Kramer, to Advise on "Feeding Your Soil" at Rose Society's March 10 Meeting

Thursday evening, March 10, 2011 at 7:00 at Christ Episcopal Church (15th and H Streets, Eureka), Terry Kramer will give some timely advice on "Feeding Your Soil." Terry's educational training has been in Ornamental Horticulture and Journalism. We are fortunate to have her Times-Standard column's advice most Thursdays. She has taught vocational landscape gardening and has participated in teaching in some of the Master Gardener classes and is currently Head Gardener at the Humboldt Botanical Gardens. Some good "down to earth" advice on what's really worth adding to your soil and some rip-offs to be aware of can help us spend and save money wisely.

The location of the meeting is 15th and H Streets, Eureka. The public is welcome. Bring your gardening and rose questions, especially soil questions, for Terry and the rose experts to help answer. A silent auction, door prize, and refreshments add to the camaraderie of the evening. For questions about the Humboldt Rose Society, check the web: www.humboldtrose.org .
